

Read the Biden classified documents report in FULL

By Dailymail.Com Political Reporters 15:56 EST 08 Feb 2024 , updated 15:58 EST 08 Feb 2024

The Department of Justice called President Joe Biden an 'elderly man' with 'significant' memory issues in their damning report of his mishandling of classified documents.

The findings released by Special Counsel Robert Hur revealed a tranche of new photos showing boxes of sensitive files scattered around the garage of his Delaware home and interviews saying he had 'diminished faculties' back in 2017.

They included folders on the troop surge in Afghanistan that were dumped next to a dog bed and dog crate.

Although the report did not recommend bringing charges against the 81-year-old , it provides a cascade of damaging findings about files found in Biden's garage and personal office as well as the president's fitness for office.

In interviews with investigators, Biden became muddled about the dates he was vice president and could not even remember the year in which his son Beau died.

And it said his cavalier attitude to classified documents, such as his habit of reading sensitive files to a ghostwriter, posed a significant national security risk.

READ THE REPORT IN FULL BELOW

The Department of Justice called President Joe Biden an 'elderly man' with 'significant' memory issues in their damning report of his mishandling of classified documents

The findings released by Special Counsel Robert Hur revealed a tranche of new photos showing boxes of sensitive files scattered around the garage of his Delaware home and interviews saying he had 'diminished faculties' back in 2017

© US Department of Justice

Although the report did not recommend bringing charges against the 81-year-old , it provides a cascade of damaging findings about files found in Biden's garage and personal office as well as the president's fitness for

office